JAPAN--PAST & PRESENT.

An Eloquent Lecture by Rev. Dr. Eby, of Tokio, Japan.

Peculiar Characteristics of the People--Wonderful Development.

Dr. Eby's lecture in the Methodist Church last evening, was well attended. The platform was occupied by the lecturer, Rev. Messrs. Percival, Fraser and Jeffrey, and after a hymn and prayer, the chairman (Rev. Mr. Percival) introduced Dr. Eby, who spoke for an hour and a half on

"JAPAN, ITS PAST AND PRESENT."

The speaker premised his remarks by stating that he believed only a few years would lapse before there would be a line of steamers connecting the Dominion with the land of the setting sun; when the facilities of communication would undoubtedly lead to a greater interest in and a better knowledge of that country and its people. Ten years ago, when preaching among the Germans of Ontario he had been asked by the mission board to go to Japan. It was to him a great surprise that such an important mission should be offered to him, but having accepted the invitation he had gone there, and after so many years had come back for rest, and was again returning, feeling very much stronger. The first sight that met the traveler's eye, on approaching Japan from San Francisco, was a mountain 14,000 feet high covered with perpetual snow. The Japanese love this mountain; many of them worship it and make of it an altar from which to worship the rising sun. From Yokohama to Tokio, 17 miles, the journey is made by rail, and although it is commenced in daylight it is finished in darkness, as Japan is

A COUNTRY WITHOUT TWILIGHT.

Japan lies off the coast of Asia very much as Great Britain does off the coast of Europe. There is a tradition among the people that when the Maker of the earth made Japan, it was the centre of the world, and afterwards he made the other places, but they were not of much account. All other races were believed to be very inferior, possessing cat souls, dog souls, etc., but in later years the Japanese found out that their island was only a small place and they revised their impressions of the outside world. When they begun to study history they found that England, the mother of nations, was a mere speck on the map, and they became ambitious to become the Great Britain of the Orient; and to-day Japan stands the pioneer of civilization in the west. Great Britain has 35,000,000 people; Japan contains 38,000,000 and is rapidly increasing in population. She has a great northwest to fill, and room for expansion for many years to come. Only a fraction of the arable land is at present under cultivation, and it has within itself marvellous possibilities of growth. The country is

and the scenery is everywhere beautiful. The natural beauty has been improved by artistic landscape gardening, and many of the highways—one, 500 miles long—were, long years ago, lined with splendid pines, forming one long vista and a scene of perpetual beauty. The climate is not so bracing as in Canada. There are four large islands and in the one farthest north the cold in winter and the heat in summer is not unlike Canada; but in those farther south the climate is warmer and more enervating. In Canada there is seven per cent. of ozone in the atmosphere, in Tokio only two per cent.; and while there is nothing so perilous in the climate as on the west coast of Africa or in New Orleans, it is enervating, and no foreigner should remain longer than seven years before coming home and recuperating. Tokio and Yokohama are in an earthquake centre, and on the average there is a shake and a half every day. Most of these are so delicate, as to require a very sensitive instrument to tell that they are earthquakes; occasionally they are better defined; once in ten years the chimneys come down and once in fifty years the earth opens and villages are swallowed up. One of the latter is now about due, and the speaker was in hopes it would come while he was in Canada.

THE NATURAL PRODUCTS

are similar to those grown in Canada, with the addition of rice, tea, oranges, persimmons, etc. It produces a different kind of fruit every month of the year. The mulberry tree grows to perfection; the silk worm is cultivated, and the silk embroidery of the inhabitants is the pride of the earth. The growth of rice was a degrading occupation and when carried on in the vicinity of cities bred a malaria and produced a disease familiar only to those who eat the rice. Japan has been described as a land where the flowers have no fragrance and the birds are without song, and in a great measure the statement is true. No where in the world are the flowers more beautiful. Plum, cherry and peach trees are cultivated, not for their fruit, but for their glorious flowers. Great parks are laid out with flower-bearing trees of many kinds, but most of them are without fragrance. There are few birds, and most of them are very beautiful. The lark and the nightingale sing as in England, but apart from these there are

NO SINGING BIRDS.

The bear, wolf, badger and fox abound, the last two being sacred animals and worshipped as the patron saints of the rice fields. The only poisonous reptiles are the viper and the centipede, the last being very numerous. Cats in Japan, like those in the Isle of Man, have no tails, and these are the only places so honored. The dogs are only prowling curs, and cattle are utilized as beasts of burden and not for milk. The manufactures are silk, bronze, porcelain, lacquer work, &c. The Japanese are an artistic people—none more so on the face of the earth. The laborers on the streets and the coolies everywhere understood the merits of an artistic picture. Servants in the house, with a deftness of finger attained from practice with the brush in writing, can write a picture that he (the speaker) could no more imitate than he could fly to the moon. The commerce of the country for centuries was only internal. Possessing a little world within themselves, for two centuries they carried on a perpetual commerce between each other; but now that their ports are open for almost anything the people of this country have to send them. The men are a little smaller than the Caucasian race—about the size of our women. The women are smaller still, and many of them are very beautiful. They are an intelligent people, and before our forefathers could read or write, the people of Japan had philosophy, the arts and sciences. A peculiarity of the habits of the people, seeing them for the first time, was that many things were done the reverse of what we are accustomed to. A plane, for instance, instead of being shoved was pulled, a saw cut on the up-stroke, a house was commenced at the top and a book at the end and read, apparently backwards. The public hotels, which are entered through the kitchens and the farther one penetrates the better the apartments become, were minately described, and the social condition of woman was graphically explained. One idea pervades all Oriental law in respect to

THEY HAVE MARKETS

and to women. The family is the central idea, and the man is the family. Everything else is made to contribute to the growth and importance of the family, and socially, politically and educationally woman is an inferior. It is possible for a Japanese to duplicate his wives, and there is no such thing as home as we understand it. And yet there is no other Oriental land where women have greater freedom, or where the missionary is permitted the same privileges in teaching the mothers of the nation. In Japan, as in no other country, there is a prohibition law that prohibits. The use of opium and its importation is strictly prohibited and all other nations have signed treaties not to bring it in to the country, and the speaker never knew a Japanese who used it. Formerly a man's learning was measured by the amount of Chinese he knew, but the English language was rapidly supplanting the Chinese and was now taught in the public and normal schools and colleges. It would become the classic language of Japan. The late treaty with China over the Korean difficulty, was made in English. The English letters could be made to express the Japanese language, and an effort is now being made to introduce them for that purpose. When that is accomplished, the great obstacle to a universal education will be swept away. The loyalty of the people is not equalled by any other nation, and for 1500 years there has only been in the Empire. Formerly divided into castes, the old feudal system has fallen to the ground, and now the lowest can climb up by merit to the highest position in the Kingdom. The country has adopted ships, a navy, the telegraph, railways, post offices, laws, legal procedure, &c., and were anxious to learn everything that it could from the western nations. Dr. Eby closed with an eloquent peroration, descriptive of the new order of things and the new Japan that was arising in the western sea, and asked for it the prayers and sympathy of his hearers.

At the conclusion of the lecture, a collection was taken up, to aid in restoring Dr. Eby's library, which was completely destroyed by fire some time ago.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

WHITE BRONZE MONUMENTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The evening Post on Friday published a gratuitous advertisement of white bronze monuments, for which I am agent. I desire, through the columns of THE TIMES, to convey my thanks to the publisher of that paper for his unsolicited and valued notice. White bronze is rapidly superseding stone for monumental purposes, for the reasons that it is more durable and can be more readily transformed into handsome designs. For cemetery purposes its superiority over granite and marble, and its cheapness, is undisputed, and it is only a question of a few years until it supplants all other material for its purposes. The Scientific American, an unexceptional authority, recommends these monuments and predicts their universal use in place of the heavy and unartistic material still in vogue. H. G. WALKER.

A "RUM" REPORT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The Colonist, which assumes to report the Blue Ribbon meetings, made quite a mess of Saturday evening's proceedings. Mr. Rudge distinctly stated that the missionaries did carry rum, i. e., wine, intoxicating liquor, over the world. The apt-to-falsify Colonist makes him say that the rum was only shipped by the same vessel, but not by the missionary. The other part of the report is in keeping, showing consistency when doing wrong.

By the way, as we have a missionary from Japan amongst us, many would be pleased to hear his opinion as to whether in the event of the conversion of the Japanese to Christianity they will share the fate of all Christian peoples, viz., become drunken. And if not, why?

EYE OPENER.

THE TIMES observes that the experiment is about to be made of boring for natural gas on the banks of the St. Lawrence near Montreal. If the scene of operations were transferred to the sanctum of the "boodle" organ in Victoria the result would no doubt be productive of good results, for the vapor desired is there in abundance and to spare.

A contemporary publishes a booming telegram from Medicine Hat to the effect that Prof. Saunders is on his way to establish an experimental farm in this province under the control of the Dominion government; and that four or five thousand acres of land will be purchased for that purpose on the Island or mainland. This is in the style of announcements is said to be the individual who sent off the dispatch. Its absurdity is apparent when it is known that already the Dominion government has large tracts of land on the mainland and more on this Island. Hundreds should be substituted for thousands, as being the correct quantity wanted.

The public would like to know how far the statement is to be believed that Mayor Fell and Coun. D. W. Higgins have been instrumental in securing a reduction in rates from the C. P. R. management at Montreal. THE TIMES is lead to believe that the reduction scale has been in process for some time. In fact that many days prior to the departure of these gentlemen from this city a reduction had been made. Equally nonsensical is the statement that British Columbia lumber is preferred to eastern wherever a comparison is made. What has become of the Georgian Bay and Upper Ottawa white pine, as well as that of the Rainy Lake country? In our own province a comparison in prices will at once settle this misleading "boomer" statement, whose paternity is well known.

OUR SEA OF MOUNTAINS.

Hon. Edward Blake Defends his Utterances and Fixes the Responsibility!

On the Proper Shoulders After a Protracted Silence of Eleven Eventful Years.

Hon. Edward Blake, in the course of his speech at Listowel, said: It has occurred to me that it might be well to take a minute to point out some of the misrepresentations and perversions of my words; and some of the unjust attack made upon me by the Tories for words said—attacks which have done them excellent service for years, in the sort of war they wage. Sometimes they pervert and distort an innocent phrase I may have used; and so make me out a wrong doer. Sometimes they treat it, though true and innocent, as if it were false and criminal. The sentence I am going to discuss to-night is a very short one; and I must admit I am correctly quoted, though with an inaccurate context. Doubtless you all have heard of the high crime and misdemeanor I committed ten or twelve years ago in describing the mainland of British Columbia through which the C. P. Railway was to pass, as a "sea of mountains." I said it but once. Yet it has been constantly in the newspapers and in the mouths of Tory orators ever since. (Laughter.) The Tory newspapers have spoken of me here, there, and everywhere, as having committed a most outrageous act in calling British Columbia a sea of mountains, and I observe that both Sir John Macdonald and Mr. White when they were at Victoria the other day referred once and again to this outrage of mine. They have done all they could to create prejudice and hostility against me on the part of my fellow-countrymen in the western portion of the Dominion because I called British Columbia a sea of mountains;" that is quite true, but I did so in this connection and under these circumstances: I was speaking in 1874 of the bargain made by Sir John Macdonald to construct the railway within a limited time; I was pointing out the difficulties attending its construction; and discussing British Columbia from an engineering point of view, as a country through which the railway was to be pushed, I called it a sea of mountains. And now, after eleven years, I repeat the phrase, and maintain its fitness. The phrase was not, as you all know, original—it was not my own invention. That was not pretended. But how as to its application to British Columbia? Well! I am afraid I can't even claim credit for originality in that. I am afraid I cannot honestly say I was the first person to apply the term "sea of mountains" to British Columbia. Where shall you find it earlier? Whence was it drawn? I will tell you. Look at a book called the record of Mr. Sandford Fleming's expedition as a Government officer, as engineer-in-chief of the Canadian Pacific Railway under the Tory Government in 1872, look at this book, the diary of the secretary of that expedition, a Government officer, the Rev. George M. Grant, now widely known as Principal Grant of Queen's University, Kingston; look at this book, copies of which were distributed by the Tory Government free of charge; copies of which were supplied to the members of Parliament at the expense of the public, because it was thought of public consequence that it should be widely read. Look, I say, at this book and you will find the reverend secretary declare in the preface that he tells "a sound unvarnished tale," and expresses the hope that "its truthfulness may compensate for its defects," and then to the description of British Columbia and you will hear him state:

THE GREATER PART OF THE MAINLAND IS A SEA OF MOUNTAINS.

(Cheers and laughter.) Am I then to blame for adopting the phrase of the Tory Government officer in describing the country as found on a Government expedition to spy out the land in regard to its railway characteristics? No! Let them go crucify Dr. Grant? (Cheers and laughter.) Once again let me refer you to a very lively work, Lord Dufferin's Travels in British Columbia, admirably written by Mr. Molyneax St. John, of which the title, strange to say, is, "The Sea of Mountains." (Cheers and laughter.) The author says:

In Victoria they have taken with bad grace Mr. Blake's perfectly justifiable remark about "a Sea of Mountains." But he might with perfect truth have spoken of Bute Inlet as a sea of mountains in a gale of wind.

(Cheers and laughter.) Again, I find in a recent issue of a periodical of very extensive circulation an article speaking of the Canadian Pacific Railway and its route, in the most laudatory terms in every point of view, so laudatory that the uncharitable might even be tempted to a description of British Columbia. Let me read some extracts from it:

SUPPOSE THAT IT WAS IN SOME DEGREE INSPIRED,

Into the province of British Columbia are packed together in half a dozen enormous ranks, separated by narrow valleys, all the mountain ranges in Western America. We cross in succession the Rockies, the Selkirks, the Gold, Okanagon, the coast ranges by a route 650 miles in length, though the breadth measured in a straight line hardly exceeds 460 miles, and during the whole time are in the midst of snow-crowned monarchs.

Here, then, are 650 miles of mountains heaped against, and over one another, in Titanic masses, ever present to the traveler, and ever changing its aspect, a "great sea of mountains" that can be likened to no other on earth. Rising more than two miles above the sea, these mountains are cleft to the base by the passes that are followed by the railway, and their whole dizzy height is seen at once. For up on their shoulders, in full view from the train, rests many glaciers, by the side of which those of the Alps would be insignificant.

For 32 hours the traveler rolls along this great and varied mountain panorama without losing the wonderful scene for a minute.

Lastly, in the report of the Directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway for 1886, I find the statement that the "Company had built 2,400 miles of railway, embracing in the Lake Superior and Mountain sections"—they call the part through British Columbia the "Mountain section"—they had built "many hundreds of miles of the most difficult railway work to be found on either side of the Atlantic." Now, if it were the fact that I had been betrayed out of my own head into the use of too strong a phrase, of a phrase which, being exaggerated, was thought unjust and harmful to British Columbia, would you not expect from such patriots as the Tories, who are constantly deprecating the utterance even of truth if it be disagreeable to them, on the score of its being injurious to the country, would you not, I say, expect from these patriots silence as to my slip, instead of that constant parade of it year in and year out, that persistent keeping of it before the public, that forcing it into the widest circulation, that blazoning it abroad over the world, that rolling of it as a sweet morsel under their tongues, which you have witnessed these many years? If harm could come of it, that harm was one to be intensified a thousandfold by their action. But they did not care! They wanted only to get a slap at me, regardless of the harm which, on their own showing, they were doing to the country! But I made no slip. Least of all did I make a slip of which they could complain. The have at last by their attacks in Victoria, induced me to speak again. I made no slip. I used the word of their own officer, and found in the book they sent me for my information. And

HIS WORDS WERE TRUE.

If I have not shown you that according to the common usages of speech, and on the faith of Dr. Grant's book, I was justified in describing the mainland of British Columbia, from a railway point of view, by the well-known phrase, "a sea of mountains," I shall despair of convincing you of aught else to-night. And if I have felt constrained at length to bring forward my justification, and thus, for the second time to use that well-known phrase, I trust you will admit that eleven years of abuse, culminating in a series of attacks at Victoria, by the Ministers of the Crown, justify my speaking now, and throw the dreadful consequences—if dreadful consequences there be—on the heads of my accusers, who are, as I have shown, themselves the persons really responsible for the whole business.—(Long and prolonged applause.)

EUROPEAN. BY CABLE.

DIVORCED AND A BANKRUPT.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Judgment was rendered to-day in the action brought by Mrs. Arthur Sebright to have her marriage with Sebright declared null and void on the ground that she was forced into it through fear. The marriage was declared annulled. The judge in rendering his decision commented upon the facts in evidence given by the plaintiff, and which had not been denied by the defendant. No man, he continued, with a particle of self-respect would have allowed such testimony to go uncontradicted. The plaintiff has been reduced to a condition of mind by the defendant, and when she was no longer able to resist the pressure of his importunities to marry him, and although at last the ceremony had been gone through with she had given no consent, which the law required. Sebright was to-day adjudged a bankrupt.

THE BULGARIAN THRONE.

Russia has designated Prince Nicholas of Mongrelia as her candidate for the throne of Bulgaria. Other powers have unanimously approved of him as a successor to Prince Alexander and have invited Russia to now propose a satisfactory solution of the conflict with the Bulgaria regency.

THE COLLIERS OF WALES

have voluntarily submitted to a 5 per ct. reduction in their wages in order to prevent the stoppage of work at the mines.

THE ANARCHISTS.

A meeting of the British anarchists has been called to assemble in Cleveland hall, London, on the 22nd instant, to protest against the action of the Chicago court which tried and sentenced Spies and seven of his colleagues to death. Circulars calling the meeting denounce the jury that convicted the Chicago anarchists as a bribed and packed body, and condemns Judge Garry for refusing the prisoners a new trial. Honorable Auburn Herber, brother of the Earl of Carnovan, will probably preside at this meeting.

METLAKAHTLA TROUBLES.

Arrest and Trial of Six Ringleaders—The Gaol Taken Possession Of.

As it cannot fail to be interesting to all loyal citizens who have the welfare of the country at heart to hear of the Metlakahtla court proceedings, I venture to give you a slight sketch of them. On the arrival of the Cormorant here, Supt. Roycraft landed with his two constables and immediately took possession of the jail, which being government property has been so long used by the Indian council of this village. The door was forced open under the superintendent's orders, by the Cormorant's carpenter, with a sledge, after a demand on the Indians for the key, which they refused to give up. Six of the ringleaders have been arrested. They were taken in the council chamber and before a full house. The Indians, as was said last trip of the Boscowitz, had driven away Mr. Tuck and party, assaulted Mr. Tuck and some of his party, and took away his instruments. There was much bravado before the arrests were made on behalf of the Indians, but being arrested in a thoroughly workmanlike manner they submitted like lambs and all at present is quiet.

The cases are now proceeding before His Honor Judge Harrison, and the result cannot yet be known. But it is sincerely to be hoped that the energetic measures now taken will be productive of good effects. The state of things here has been deplorable, and I, as an old resident, certainly think that at times life has been in danger. It is to be hoped that people up here for the future of all residents will be allowed to follow their lawful occupation in peace, and that the era of rebellion and Fenian boycotting will come to an end, and that we may be protected from annoyance and danger from Indians, who, from having been quiet, inoffensive people years ago, have, under the teaching of white men, who should certainly know better, been transferred into the pests of this coast. I cannot close without paying a tribute of praise to the loyal remnant of Indians who, in spite of threats, danger to their lives, have remained staunch to the government. PIONEER.

November 9, 1886.

PROVINCIAL COURT.

In the provincial court to-day Chin Jung, who was arrested when landing from the steamer for the larceny of $400 from the trunk of another Chinaman at Port Moody, was remanded to Vancouver for trial. Before being arrested Chin Jung was seen to hand over the money to a companion, for whose arrest a warrant has been issued, and only $41 was found on the prisoner.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Thanksgiving services will (D. V.) be held in the First Presbyterian Church on Thursday, 18th instant, at 7.30 p. m. Collection to be devoted to the Presbytery fund.

DISSOLUTION!

The Ontario Assembly Dissolved—Date of the Elections.

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—For some time past it has been known in government circles that Mr. Mowat had determined upon dissolving the Assembly and bringing on a new election at an early date The public to-day received a genuine surprise on the fact becoming known that His Honor Lieut.-Governor Robinson had dissolved the Ontario parliament. The writs were signed yesterday and mailed to-day to the returning officers throughout the province. The nominations are fixed for Wednesday, the 22d December, and the polling for the 29th of that month.

The term of the late parliament did not expire till next September. In a majority of the constituencies candidates have been already chosen. In this city and throughout the province the greatest of political excitement and activity prevails. It is not yet known whether Sir John Macdonald will precipitate the Dominion elections to be held contemporaneous with those of Ontario, or otherwise. The conflict will be a sharp, bitter one, the chances being largely in favor of the government.

ANOTHER GRIEVANCE.

The Atlantic Seaboard Terminus of the C. P. R. a White Elephant.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The News' Montreal special says the maritime provinces are up in arms against the Dominion Government at the proposal to make Portland the terminal port of the ocean mail service. Public meetings were held at St. John, N. B., and at Frederickton last night to protest against the scheme. The Moncton Town Council passed resolutions condemning the proposal. Two members of parliament have been despatched to Ottawa to interview the government on the subject. The opinion of shippers is that neither Halifax nor St. John can compete with Portland.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

MADERA, Nov. 16.—The Madera hotel in this place was burned to the ground at 2 o'clock this morning; also the adjoining residence and contents of both being entirely destroyed. The hotel was full of guests who barely escaped with their lives. One old man named Williams was frightfully burned and will die. Another man name unknown was badly burned. The loss is about $70,000; partly insured. The origin of the fire was from a lamp explosion.

THE GLADYS.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 16.—Mr. Townsend returned by yesterday's train from the Gladys, which is beached on this side of Yale. He reports the steamer not badly injured, and he thinks they will be ready to set her afloat by to-day. The hole in her bottom is not large. A large amount of freight was on board at the time of the accident, all of which was saved.

THE IDEALS.

This new and talented social and dramatic club will give one of their unique and first class entertainments at the Victoria theatre on Saturday evening next. The programme is a splendid one, and those who want to laugh a real good laugh should be on hand. As the show is first class in every particular, the most fastidious can feel at home at the entertainment.

THAT BENEFIT.

Mr. Mackley explains that several individual members of the Victoria Athletic Club volunteered their services in connection with the benefit to be given that gentleman on Wednesday evening and not the club as a whole. The Olympic Club referred to is not the Olympic Club of this city, but several members of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, who are at present in this city.

CHOICE FRUIT FOR THANKSGIVING.

A lot of the finest fruit that has reached Victoria this season has been received from Washington Territory by Brown Bros., Yates street, next to the New York restaurant, and is selling fast. Secure a box.

HIGH BAROMETER.

Barometers in the city yesterday registered 30.95, the highest they were ever known to reach. The indication is continued fine and pleasant weather.

THIS IS A FACT.

RECEPTION OF REV. DR. REID.

On Sunday afternoon last the Rev. J. Reid, D. D., late of Corvallis, Oregon, was formally received into the ministry of the Reformed Episcopal Church. The services were of special interest and the sacred edifice was well filled. In addition to the Bishop and Dr. Reid, the following ministers were present and took part in the services, namely: Messrs. Pollard, Stephen, Ladner, Percival, Fraser, Barss and David Reid. The installation of Dr. Reid as the colleague of Bishop Cridge take place next Sunday morning. The translation of Dr. Reid is a remarkable one in many respects. It take place with the full consent of the Presbytery of Oregon, with which body Bishop Cridge had entered into correspondence for the purpose. On the other hand, the R. E. Church receives him in full standing as an ordained minister. Such reciprocity between different Christian bodies is one of the signs of the times, and is an indication of a growing spirit of unity among the professed followers of the Lord Jesus. Dr. Reid enters upon his work with excellent prospects of usefulness, and we believe that he will be a very important addition to the ministerial force of the city. We cordially welcome Dr. R. back to Victoria, and we congratulate the R. E. Church on obtaining the services, as co-pastor, of a Christian gentleman of approved character and ability.

SLIP-SHOD LEGISLATION.

When DAN O'CONNELL spoke about driving a coach and four through every act of parliament, he must have been imbued with prophetic vision and had reference to Victoria city by-laws. Every hack man in the city has to-day driven his cab and pair through the Hack Regulation By-law, and the poor thing is so tattered and torn after the operation that its father—the city barrister(?)—would fail to recognise it as one of his offspring. In predicting this result, a large hack owner in the city remarked a few days ago that the "City Council only make by-laws for THEO. DAVIE to tear to pieces." Wherever the fault, there is unquestionably something wrong either in the construction or interpretation of our municipal laws, and the sooner it is discovered and rectified the better for the city. It is the veriest sort of child's play to pass by-laws that are worthless, and with the experience of the past it is extraordinary that our city fathers should be so careless in framing their legislation, or, having framed laws, that they should be so indifferent as to their fate. The question people are now asking is, "how long is this sort of thing to continue?"

AN UNRELIABLE CRITIC.

The speeches delivered by Mr. JOHN CHARLTON, M. P., in this city and New Westminster, so upset the equilibrium of our ancient Tory friend of the Vancouver Herald that in each issue of that journal, since these events, is to be found column after column, making the vain attempt at a refutation of Mr. CHARLTON'S statements. These attacks on so able and so distinguished a politician and citizen as Mr. CHARLTON, reminds us of the fable wherein a snail attempts to stop the onward march of the mighty lion. The value of, and importance to be attached to, the Herald's criticisms may be inferred from the following:

"If we remember correctly, the contract price from Port Moody to Savona was SOMETHING ABOUT THREE MILLION DOLLARS."

With the Herald millions of dollars are but as toys; of little or no value. Here the would-be critic of Mr. CHARLTON makes a clean breach of his ignorance of the topics he is discussing. Surely the writer cannot be so utterly in the dark as to the outlay on the Moody-Savona section of the Canadian Pacific, as to suppose that the cost of that undertaking was only something about three million dollars? When the claims of Mr. ONDERDONK are paid it will be found that the cost of the section referred to will be something like THIRTEEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS! The difference between the CHARLEBOIS-MACDONALD contract figures and those of Mr. ONDERDONK alone were about $225,000, for the Moody-Emory division. That scandal our Vancouver contemporary must have forgotten. Mr. CHARLTON'S figures were given from the Blue books and from data supplied by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to the government relative to its operations. The Herald as an authority on such subjects as touched upon by Mr. CHARLTON evidently must be discredited, for out of its own mouth it now stands condemned of uttering that which it must be aware was a misleading statement.

SIR GEORGE STEPHEN'S visit to England, it is authoritatively stated, has for its object to make arrangements for a fast line of Atlantic steamers, to run to Montreal in the summer and to Halifax in the winter. The Pacific steamship line remains in a state of project; but both will probably become realities before long.

AT the Reform meeting recently held at Toronto, the HON. WILLIAM MACDOUGALL gave his reasons for withdrawing from the Conservative fold and returning to his first love in the ranks of the Liberals. The chief one was that SIR JOHN, by appointing Conservatives to vacancies in the Senate, thereby destroyed the very foundation of confederation, viz., that members of the Senate be equally divided between the two political parties. MR. BLAKE, to satisfy the workingmen, would impose a successive tax, under which realized capital or succession would yield some portion of its unearned increment. He advocated a graduated income tax, fixing it on such a scale as to make it bear lightly on wage earners.

TORPEDO EXPERIMENTS.

While France is making extraordinary preparations to substitute dynamite for gunpowder as the bursting charge of shells, and while Germany and Russia are suspected of having like devices of their own. English conservatism is hard at work demonstrating that the high explosives cannot be safely used as bursting charges in the projectiles of powder guns, and that even if they could be so used there would be little gain in destructiveness. This seems to have been the object of the elaborate trials at Lydd; and now a new attack has been made upon the high explosives by showing that they fail to produce their expected effect even in the WHITEHEAD torpedo, of which the ironclads have been so much in dread. As the United States Congress has already authorized the Navy Department to contract for a dynamite gun cruiser, and as many experiments have been made in this country for the use of explosive gelatine in shells, these British experiments are looked upon here with great interest. The hasty inference drawn from the Portsmouth experiments that auto-mobile torpedoes cannot materially harm ironclads does not necessarily follow. In the case in question a WHITEHEAD torpedo was fastened to the hull of a condemed British ironclad and exploded. Although it contained over ninety pounds of gun cotton, and was in contact with the vessel several feet below the armor at the water line, the damage it did was far from being fatal. Instead of blowing the vessel to pieces, it left her still able to fight or to steam away. These experiments, however, really show little more than was shown by the Scandinavian Commission of a dozen years ago. At that time a joint body of officers appointed by Denmark, Norway and Sweden investigated the real extent of injury which it was possible to cause to an ironclad by SPAR, WHITEHEAD, and HARVEY torpedoes. The trials were conducted on land, but the charges were tamped with earth, to represent the tamping which would occur by water if exploded below the surface. They found that it was useless to explode less than seventy-seven pounds of dynamite against a five-inch iron plate. The experiments of Lieut.-Commander FOLGER, U. S. N., two years ago at Annapolis, led to similar results, as had the previous French experiments at Brest. It should be said, however, that at LYDD gun cotton was found of the least value among the high explosives there experimented with. But, above all, in the tests already spoken of, including those at Portsmouth, the explosive was simply placed upon or alongside the substance against which it was to act, without any attempt at penetration. It is universally conceded that the drawback to all the high explosives is that their effect is intensely local. But when, in addition, the dynamite is merely placed against a plate of iron, the effect cannot fully represent what would come of propelling the charge against the plate with a striking energy of several hundred foot tons. The projectiles of the ERICSSON submarine gun and the ZALINSKI pneumatic gun are both practically torpedoes. But they are torpedoes discharged at the target with a large muzzle energy, a portion of which is available within their short ranges as striking energy for penetration of the target. Of course it is impossible to procure anything more than slight penetration into the target with a large charge of a high explosive before the explosion occurs. A very thick projectile with a small charge would delay explosion longer, but this would not be sufficiently effective when it did explode. The main point to note is that the simple contact of a charge of dynamite with a plate against which it is exploded is not by any means fully equivalent to the effect which would come from even the slight penetration and the momentum effected by the submarine gun or the pneumatic gun within their very limited ranges. Still, the British authorities will take comfort as to the actual worth of their ironclads from the Portsmouth experiments.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

The New York Sun in summing up the result of the recent elections in the United States in its issue of the 6th instant says: There are but few changes in yesterday's figures in the vote for Congressmen. In Michigan five Democrats have been elected, instead of three, as before reported, which makes the delegation stand 5 to 6. The Pennsylvania delegation will be the same as in the present Congress—8 Democrats and 20 Republicans—later returns show the defeat of HALL, Dem., in Governor CURTIN's district by a small majority. The defeat of SMALLS in the "Black district" of South Carolina is confirmed. The only colored man chosen to the next Congress is ADNOT, in the Second North Carolina district. The latest returns indicate that Speaker CARLISLE may pull through, but it will be by a very small majority. CARLISLE himself places it at from 500 to 600.

AT a meeting of the Conservatives of Prince Albert, N. W. T., located in one of the new electoral divisions, it was decided to ask HON. THOMAS WHITE to accept the nomination for it at the next general election. The prospective candidate was willing to withdraw, and it is thought that MR. WHITE would not meet with any opposition.

FORCED APART.

BY W. CLARK RUSSELL.

Author of the "Wreck of the Grosvenor," "A Sailor's Sweetheart," &c.

She addressed these words to a stout, kindly-faced young woman, who had come suddenly into the room, and now stood staring at and courtesying first to Jenny and then to Mrs. Mead.

"Sally," continued the old woman, "we have walked all the way from Greystone to get a sup o' breakfast afore t' coach starts. What have ye got i' the house to comfort th' insids of an old friend—and a lady; whose beauty should make ye proud to serve her? Speak out, my love, and niver fear to name thy choicest. Is it a pretty slice from a tender side o' bacon, with the eggs which the hens are now singing over, and a pot of thy best tea, wi' cream to give it a dainty color? That will do—that will do, Sally; but I'll not gi' ye a farden for it all, if ye don't make the saucy wench, as ogled me through your glass door, brisk in cooking of it."

"What! Mrs. Mead! Who'd iver ha' thought of seeing you this time o' marning!" cried Mrs. Walker in a rich, clear voice. "Where be ye going by t' coach? Not to Lunnon, at thy time o' life! Well, well! only last night did I say to Roger: 'Next time thee goest to Greystone, see that ye fill the biggest basket wi' the largest gooseberries for Mrs. Mead, that she may know Sally is alive and wishes her health.' How strange, now! An' it's breakfast you're wanting at once! That you shall have, an' quickly. Hi! Martha!" she called at the door; and a voice answered, "Here I be, missis!" "Run out and bring in what eggs ye can find, and first set the kittle on; and if ye stay talking with jackanapes Johnny, I'll know you by my clock, which I am looking at now! There's breakfast for two to get, and if your shoes hinder ye from running, toss 'em off!"

She looked back into the room with a merry laugh, which died away on her catching sight of Jenny's face, for the girl had lifted her veil. Observing the change of expression in her friend's face, Mrs. Mead frowned knowingly upon her, with an extremely suggestive shake of the head, and then begged for the loan of a pair of slippers, which Mrs. Walker immediately went to procure.

"Now, miss'es," said the old woman, in her kindest manner, and hobbling over to Jenny, "ye must make yourself comfortable here, and there's no reason ag'in' it. A better hearted young woman than Sally there is not in this world. Niver you heed her if she looks at thee. It will be your beauty that fetches her eyes and nothing else; for this is a house of call, and them who kapes such houses soon loses all curiosity. You shall breakfast and then lie down for a mossel o' sleep. Why, my dear, what beautiful hair is yours. 'Tis like putting one's hand on feathers, and just the color o' the barr'some of them drawing ye see on church windows when the sun shines through them."

This bit of praise was provoked by her gentle removal of Jenny's hat; then she slipped the shawl off the girl's shoulders and knelt down to take off her shoes and chafe the little feet.

Grief and fatigue are by no means such conditions as beauty covets for their physical gifts; yet it was a question if Jenny's loveliness was impaired by the whiteness of her face and the languid droop of her eyelids, and the mournful set and curve into which sorrow had worked the sweetness of her mouth. Her hands were folded wearily on her lap and her wedding ring glistened.

"How kind and good you are to me, Mrs. Mead!" she said. "If ever my darling comes back to me, how will he love and bless you for your goodness to his wife! If I could get a little rest first, I could eat some breakfast; but, indeed, I do not think I could swallow food now."

"Well, perhaps ye are right," replied Mrs. Mead, thoughtfully.

"Anyways, they'll fit thee, Mrs. Mead," exclaimed Sally, with her merry laugh, dropping the slippers on the floor; "and a slipper's a poor job if it don't fit loose."

"Now, ass here, Sally," continued Mrs. Mead, rising off her knees with one of those involuntary groans which old folks like her will send up over any harsh exercise of their limbs; "this lady wants some sleep, and I'll thank ye, my dear, for the loan of a quiet room for her, where the drawn blinds'll make her poor eyes think it night."

"If ye'll come with me, ma'am, I'll lead you straight to such a room as Mrs. Mead asks for," said Sally, with a courtesy, givin Jenny the "ma'am" on account of her wedding ring, which the quick eye of the woman spied instantly.

With a feeble smile of thanks, Jenny slipped her feet into her shoes, and, taking up her hat and shawl, followed Mrs. Walker out of the room, and Mrs. Mead went creaking after them.

Now, though Mrs. Mead had represented Mrs. Walker as hardened into incuriosity by her calling as hostess, the truth was Mrs. Walker was still, and was ever likely to remain, a thorough woman in respect of inquisitiveness when any real object of curiosity came under her attention. To this quality, which after all is harmless enough when it prompts honest and kindly hearts, Jenny was indebted for the promptness with which she was conducted to a bedroom and made comfortable in it; for Mrs. Walker was very anxious to have Mrs. Mead alone, that she might hear all that was to be told about the beautiful young girl with the wedding ring on her finger, and what part in the mysterious little play Judith herself was taking.

"There," said the old woman, when Jenny had stretched her length upon the bed and her hot forehead pressed the snow of the pillow—"there," said she, pinning the curtains together, so as to effectually darken the room, "now you'll think its night; and a good answer him. Whatever may be your true purpose in calling upon me this morning, my own judgment upon it I will give you, and let the question you have now asked me find you a reason for what I shall say: that the father of a villain who has ruined my child, and brought desolation and shame upon an honorable home, must perforce be too much like his offspring not to have a relish for the wound his son has inflicted, and a pleasure in fingering it for the sake of his curiosity. Hold! you are not yet answered. Do you think I am to be touched by your sneers, mam? You would teach all those with whom you have to do to look down upon me, and such as me, as despicable men, holding a humble faith that makes your flaunting religion reek; and that your son had ruined and disgraced any one of us, shortly gives you no more concern than the scourging of a negro gives the white ruffian who looks on at the whipping! Is that it? Why, sir, be satisfied with your son's work; but you shall not stop me from calling him villain! You would know why! Look at my wife yonder. Is there no answer in her face? Look at this hand. Never did it tremble as now it does. I am aged a score since yesterday, and that is thy son's doing. No!" he shouted, in a strange shaking voice, "I'll not put my dishonor again into words. Sir, I wish you a good morning."

He rose from his chair and stood upright, with his hand extended toward the door. His wife sat in a crouching attitude, hugging herself. Dr. Shaw did not offer to move. His face was pale, but otherwise his manner was collected. He put his snuff-box in his pocket, and, drawing forth a pocket book, he extracted a paper, which he held in his hand while he addressed Mr. Strangfield.

"Sir," he said, in a slow, deliberate tone, "throughout my life I have ever striven to act the part of an upright man, making the vindication of things I held to be just and true, but always ready to acknowledge any error. Through haste and surprise and disappointment which in imitation of your own admirable candor, I shall be at no pains to dissemble, I have fallen into a grievous error—that of misjudging authentic folly and calling it sin; that of repelling with rude doubts the pleadings of helpless innocence; that of denouncing my own flesh and blood as a monster of vice when he was not at hand to justify himself. But, sir, the God who rules over us is the Vindicator of the just, and last night I humbled myself before Him with gratitude and remorse. I beg you to be seated. I came to you with two items of news. One I have related, and the other I will now relate, in mercy to you who, by desiring me to leave the house, would be enabling upon yourself the endurance of a grief greater, in spite of my theological opinions, than I could wish you to know."

DR. LEDUC'S PERIODICAL PILLS.

These Pills are compounded from the purest drugs, from those only which are known to act upon the generative organs in females. It is a well known fact that a very large proportion of the ills to which females are liable, are the direct results of suppressed or disordered menstruation, and it is necessary therefore that safe and reliable remedy for the cure of these diseases be placed within the reach of every one. Dr. LeDuc's Pills are the oldest, most generally used, and most reliable remedy for the cure of suppressed menstruation, and other uterine diseases, and wherever they have been introduced have driven every other remedy out of the market. They were first introduced into Paris, France, by Dr. LeDuc in 1839, and have so gained the confidence of the public that they have for years been the standing remedy in every household. Ask any druggist for them. Wholesale of LANGLEY & Co., druggists, Victoria, B. C. Retail by E. Pimbury & Co., Nanaimo; T. Pickard, Denman Island; R. B. Richardson, Cowichan; A. R. The death of Mr. Wm. Morris, C. E., of Hazeldene, Balham Park road, London, occurred on the 22nd September. Deceased gentleman on two occasions visited Victoria in connection with the Esquimalt graving dock, of which work the firm were appointed engineers by the British Columbia government.

A MOCK PARLIAMENT.

The suggestion made by us a few weeks ago, we are pleased to learn, has been taken up by the Y. M. C. A., and a meeting of the members will be held to-morrow evening to organize a mock parliament. Representatives will be elected to represent the constituencies of the province—27 in all—from whom a speaker will be chosen, and the proceedings will be carried on under the rules of the local legislature. The house will meet weekly and will be open to the public. Practically, the "mock parliament" is a debating society, but the procedure, rules of order and principles of parliamentary government will guide its deliberation and while tending to popularize debate will afford greater scope to the members and familiarize them with the rules and practises of our representative assemblies. As soon as the government is formed, a measure will probably be introduced to regulate or prohibit the liquor traffic, and other legislation affecting the social condition of the people will be considered and introduced at an early day.

NOT AN APPLICANT.

Our worthy Mayor is reported to have denied a rumor that he was an applicant for the position of Lieutenant-Governor, but the reporter did not gather from him that he would decline the honor if it were offered to him. Sir John is between the devil and the deep sea on this question of the governorship, and has only postponed the appointment of a successor to Lieutenant-Governor Cornwall, whose term has expired, because there are several Richmonds in the field and he lacks the moral courage to give the position to the one most deserving of it and most likely to fill it to the satisfaction of the whole people. It would not be the first time the old box has got out of a similar difficulty by throwing aside rival claimants and reconciling all differences in the appointment of one who was not an "applicant."

A HANDSOME PRESENT.

Prof. Haynes, leader of the Victoria Band, was last night presented by the members of the band with a handsome ebony cane, surmounted by a massive gold handle, bearing the inscription: "Presented to Bandmaster W. Haynes, as a token of respect, by the members of the Victoria Brass Band, Nov. 15, 1886." The engraving was executed by Mr. George Crowther, Fort street. Mr. W. H. Huxtable made the presentation on behalf of the members, and Mr. Haynes, who was entirely taken by surprise, expressed his thanks in an appropriate speech. A supper at Stelitz's concluded a most enjoyable evening to all who participated.

INDECENT ASSAULT.

In the city police court on Monday afternoon, before Mr. Edwin Johnson, S. M., Henry Davies was charged with indecently assaulting Minnie Van Horst, a child between 10 and 11 years of age.

Minnie Van Horst, sworn, testified that she had been in the habit of taking milk to the house of the prisoner; that he had there committed the offence charged on three or four different occasions, the last offence being committed on the morning of Wednesday the 3rd inst.

The case was then adjourned until Wednesday at 2 p. m.

SULLIVAN-RYAN.

The latest about this slugging affair is that it was quietly arranged east to take place in San Francisco, that city being well known for its liberality, both financially and for its lenient enforcement of the law prohibiting such matches. As high as $20 was paid for choice seats by brokers and other "tonies." The fight was allowed to proceed to a finish, contrary to general expectation, a strong influence being behind the affair. Sullivan proved himself Ryan's master in short time, and is the lion of the hour in fistic circles.

AND STILL THEY COME.

The Toronto Herald announces the return to that city of Mr. J. H. Samo, from a trip over the Canadian Pacific Railway to Winnipeg. Mr. Samo speaks in the highest terms of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Samo intends to open a branch house in Winnipeg as well as one at some point in British Columbia at no distant day. He has come back to Toronto brim full of push and enterprise, and says he is bound to do a big furniture trade both in Winnipeg and British Columbia before many moons come and go.—Toronto World.

ASSESSMENT REVISION.

Under the assessment act S. P. Mills, Esq., judge of the Court of Revision and Appeal will hold court as follows: For Victoria City: At the Legislative Hall, Victoria, Monday, 13th, and Tuesday 14th December, at 11 o'clock a. m. District of Victoria: At the Royal Oak, Monday, 20th December, at 11 o'clock a. m., and at Henry Simpson's, South Saanich, on Wednesday, 22nd December, at 12 o'clock noon. District of Esquimalt: At Henry Price's, Parson's Bridge, on Friday, 16th December, at 12 o'clock noon.

THE PORTLAND MURDER.

There are no new developments in the murder at the Villard hotel basement in Portland. The impression prevails that the murderer or murderers left Portland Saturday afternoon by the Atlantic Express and are now beyond the Missouri river. Coroner DeLin, in looking over the effects of the murdered man, found a revenue tax receipt for the district of Nanaimo, B. C., for Thomas Kenealy, dated Dec. 31st, 1885. This, with other evidence found, denotes that Thomas Kenealy is undoubtedly the man's true name.

OVERLAND TO SAN FRANCISCO.

Commencing with yesterday the time occupied in making the trip overland from this city to San Francisco has been reduced to four days, viz.; 1¼ days from here to Portland and 2¾ days from Portland to San Francisco. Sleeping cars are run on the route and the only staging is 85 miles between Ashland, Oregon, and McCloud's on the O. & C. R. R. The scenery on the road is magnificent and those whose stomachic qualities are weak are advised to try the new line instead of the steamer route.

THE MEDICAL BOARD.

Dr. McLean, a Nova Scotian Medico, who arrived in the province some weeks ago, made an application to the Medical Board for a supplementary examination, owing to his arrival four days too late for the regular one, but failed to obtain it, owing to: (1) want of a local examining board; (2) difficulty of convening the council; (3) danger of making a precedent if the law was departed from.

MANITOBA ELECTIONS.

Winnipeg Free Press: It is rumored in every quarter that some date between the 3d and 10th of December has been fixed upon by the government for the local elections. This is altogether probable.

The B. C. Stationery & Pt'g Co, HAVE REMOVED TO THEIR NEW STORE, NEXT THE POST OFFICE.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER, &c.

The Colonist has not yet made the discovery that the deficit in the Federal Government's accounts for the last financial year was $5,800,000! When liberally subsidized, a few years ago, that journal, which claims to be a veracious one stoutly defended the Liberal government of Mr. Mackenzie from the onslaughts of its opponents, especially on the matter of deficits, which were as ant hills to a mountain as compared with those of the present Federal Government. Then, however, it was Edgar's balm which spoke.

In its issue this morning, the Colonist publishes a garbled report of a speech purporting to have been delivered in Glengary, Ont., by Mr. Donald Macmaster, M. P., as an attempt at a reply to Sir Richard Cartwright, who a few days previously visited the county—whose inhabitants, according to Mr. Macmaster, but a few years ago, were little better than semi civilized, and not worthy to be compared to the Indians the Conservative party were endeavoring to enfranchise—where he delivered addresses of so powerful a nature that the sitting member fearing the effect Sir Richard's speech would have upon his already infuriated constituents, rushed into the county to set up a defence. Lawyer like, he made the best he could out of a bad case. The figures quoted by Mr. Macmaster vary in many important respects from those given on the floor of the House by Hon. Mr. McLelan the finance minister, and who should know whereof he spoke. We have read over Mr. Macmaster's speech, in the hope that he would enlighten the people of Canada on the $4,000 Custom House irregularity scandal, in which his name was associated with that of Mr. Radford and the McLachlan Bros., the wholesale dry goods firm of Montreal, who were convicted of smuggling on an extensive scale. Donald, cute, clever fellow that he undoubtedly is, has never cleared up that "boodle" transaction satisfactorily. The stern, Scottish Highlanders of Glengary have determined to resent the insult heaped on them by their enthusiastic countryman, of Tory proclivities, who at next election will have to step down and out, as will also a considerable number of others, whose reputation is besmirched and hands unclean with timber leases, land grabs, mineral claims, railway charters and contract jobbers, as well as nepotism of the grossest description. Such are the brood of "boodlers" who are sapping the life blood out of this fair country, and who are condemned alike by every honest Conservative as well as the Liberals, and whom the cackling hen of the Colonist is prepared to take under her wing. But it is the old story of "birds of a feather."

NEWSPAPER SALE.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer has again be subject to a change in its ownership. Leigh Hunt, Esq., a gentleman from Iowa, has purchased Mr. Bagley's stock and will assume the management of the paper on December 1st, Mr. Bagley retiring. This is probably all the change that will take place as regards the men at work on the paper and the policy will remain the same. The stock owned by Mr. Bagley is not a controlling interest, but it is stated Mr. Hunt will purchase the stock owned by Messrs. Furth, Squire and D. T. Denny, and thus secure a control. The new management is spoken of as a gentleman without newspaper experience, but with considerable capital, and, we are informed, for some time endeavored to purchase the Oregonian before he closed the bargain for the P.-I.

BUGGY ACCIDENT.

"I expected it would—(hic) come to—(hic) this," exclaimed an inebriated individual as he staggered into one of Victoria's leading saloons this afternoon with three stitches in his upper lip, the result of being struck by the tire of a buggy in which himself and another individual were seated, and which was upset on the Esquimalt road this morning by the horse breaking away from control. The man called Steve, and well known here, got off easily, the only damage to his phiz being a split lip, which Dr. Davie sewed up. The other man, whose name we did not learn, is reported to have one leg broken by the accident. Both men it is understood, will leave for the north by the Idaho this evening.

HYMENEAL.

Mr. H. O. Bristowe, of Vancouver, formerly Lieut. 33d regiment, was married at the Clarence yesterday to Miss E. Jackson, of Boston, Mass., by Rev. W. W. Percival. Mr. F. R. Glover officiated as groomsman and the bride was given away by her mother, Mrs. Maynard, of San Francisco.

A LARGE NUGGET.

A special from New Westminster to THE TIMES to-day says a quartz nugget weighing 34 ounces was sold yesterday to Mr. I. B. Fisher of the Bank of B. C. The nugget was recently dug out of Granite Creek and is valued at $340, which allows 40 per cent. for quartz.

—The death of Mrs. Joseph Tretheway, who resided with her husband on a ranch near Nicomin station, was through suicide. She had been in poor health and was depressed and melancholy. On Thursday, when her husband had gone to the mission to procure help, Mrs. Tretheway arose from bed without waking her sister-in-law, and going to a slough half a mile from the house drowned herself. An inquest was held by Coroner W. D. Ferris, of New Westminster and a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned.
